DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1, 2, 4-10, and 12-27, 34, 35, 42, and 43, drawn to an extract from a plant of the genus Trichosanthes (such as a first or second syrup extract preparation) as well as a preparation method thereof, classified in class 424, subclass 725, for example.
- II. Claims 3, 11, 28-33, 36-41, and 44-49, drawn to an isolated compound obtained from an extract of a plant of the genus Trichosanthes as well as a preparation method thereof, classified in class 514, subclass 1+, for example.
- III. Claims 50, 51, 58, and 59, drawn to a method of providing various in vivo therapeutic effects in a subject (including to inhibit malignant cell proliferation) via administering an effective amount of an extract from a plant of the genus Trichosanthes thereto, classified in class 424, subclass 725, for example.
- IV. Claims 52-57, drawn to a method of providing various in vivo therapeutic effects in a subject via administering an effective amount of an isolated compound obtained from an extract of a plant of the genus Trichosanthes, classified in class 515, subclass 1+, for example.

Art Unit: 1655

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I & II (distinct products) and III & IV (distinct processes), respectively, are related as products and processes of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product. See MPEP § 806.05(h). In the instant case, there are numerous ways to provide the various therapeutic functional effects instantly claimed (such as inhibiting malignant cell proliferation) - e.g., via administering one of numerous conventional art-recognized chemotherapeutic drugs thereto.

The products of Groups I and II are distinct each from the other - i.e., the product of Group I is drawn to an extract preparation (e.g., a first or second syrup extract preparation), whereas the product of Group II is drawn to an isolated compound. The methods of Groups III and IV are also distinct for the same reasoning - i.e., the method of Group III requires the administration of an herbal extract (e.g., a first or second syrup extract preparation) to the subject, whereas the method of Group IV requires that administration of an isolated compound to the subject.

The several inventions above are independent and distinct, each from the other. The search for each of the above inventions is not co-extensive particularly with regard to the literature search. Further, a reference which would anticipate the invention of one group would not necessarily anticipate or even make obvious another group. Finally, the consideration for patentability is different in each case. Thus, it would be an undue burden to examine all of the above inventions in one application.

Art Unit: 1655

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and the inventions require a different field of search (see MPEP § 808.02), restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

This application also contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species: The various therapeutic functional effects being provided/treated by the claimed extract or isolated compound (see, e.g., claim 50).

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species (elect a particular disease/condition from among those recited - see, e.g., claim 50) for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claim 50 and 52 are generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Art Unit: 1655

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and a product claim is subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be rejoined in accordance with the provisions of MPEP § 821.04. Process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the patentable product will be entered as a matter of right if the amendment is presented prior to final rejection or allowance, whichever is earlier. Amendments submitted after final rejection are governed by 37 CFR 1.116; amendments submitted after allowance are governed by 37 CFR 1.312.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103, and 112. Until an elected product claim is found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowed product claim will not be rejoined. See "Guidance on Treatment of Product and Process Claims in light of In re Ochiai, In re Brouwer and 35 U.S.C. § 103(b)," 1184 O.G. 86 (March 26, 1996). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, Applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution either to maintain dependency on the product claims or to otherwise include the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder.

Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.
